

Log Home Guide

Real People. Real Experiences. Real Helpful.

 a Fun Times Guide site

Pictures of Rustic Columns & Poles Inside Log Homes ...Some Are Real Trees!

Some Examples Of Columns & Poles That Look Like Trees

Have you seen this before?

More and more homeowners are incorporating 'real' trees into their log home floorplans.

Yep, these are honest to goodness tree trunks and stumps that have been incorporated into a home's design.

The following photos are from the pages of my favorite log home magazines: Log Home Living, Timber Home Living, Country's Best Log Homes, and Log Homes Illustrated.

~INTERIOR RUSTIC COLUMNS~

~EXTERIOR RUSTIC COLUMNS~

See how they did this one... They put 'real' tree trunks in stamped concrete.

~OTHER EXAMPLES~

In case you're looking for "similar but different" ideas — ways to incorporate the chunky look of trees and real wood into your log home, here are some other rustic ideas, including hand-peeled or heavy timber columns, poles, and stairways.

These are great ways to creatively use heavy timber inside and outside of your home...

See how to make columns and poles inside your own home. Plus, some of the places where you can purchase them.
